

To be beautiful and to feel beautiful....

ENDOSCOPIC FOREHEAD LIFT ENDOSCOPIC BROW LIFT

The face including the forehead is an essential element in 'being beautiful' and 'feeling beautiful'...

The forehead tissue weakens with ageing, more and more deep wrinkles start to form and eyebrows start to sag. This accounts for an older, tired and sometimes even austere look.

As a brow lift can correct this, Kliniek Beaucare can be of assistance!

The treatment

An endoscopic brow lift is a cosmetic surgery technique to correct the frowning muscles where necessary. This is done by detaching the skin from the forehead and stretching it upwards so that wrinkles are softened and eyebrows look younger.

For traditional brow lifts an incision had to be made across the scalp from one ear to the other. The endoscopic technique only requires three small incisions along the hair implant line. Not only is the healing process much shorter, also scars are hardly visible.

After surgery

After the operation you will be wearing a bandage that will need to stay in place for one week. Swelling and bruising around the eyes will gradually disappear in about two weeks and then the stitches will be removed.

We hope this brief outline will have explained everything, but please do not hesitate to contact us for additional information. We look forward to welcoming you at Kliniek Beaucare to be able to give you more personal advice.
